Political Pace Now Starting To Grow Brisk

Rockefeller Avoids Being Put on Spot; Governors Maneuver

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pace of politics quickened today. One state heard last-minute campaigning. Presidential candidates personally appealed to another state's Democrats. Governors met and maneuvered.

The maneuvering took place in Glacier National Park, Mont., site of the governors annual conference.

It involved an attempt Sunday to put Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York on the spot and an accusation, quickly denied, that Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas was using his legislative power to gather votes for the Democratic nomination.

The appeals involved a meeting in another part of Montana. Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Stuart Symington of Missouri attend the State Democratic Convention in Helena today.

The campaigning took place in North Dakota, where voters choose a new senator Tuesday. The results could affect the farm policy strategy of both parties in the presidential election.

At the conference, Gov. Rockefeller's Republican colleagues asked him to join them in signing a formal statement pledging support to Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the presidential race.

Rockefeller refused, saying he couldn't as head of an uncommitted delegation to the Republican convention.

Rockefeller has said he would be available for a draft at the Republican convention.

On the Democratic side, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan told a news conference of a report that Johnson had threatened to block the medical care bill for the aged if Williams supported Kennedy.

Williams said the threat by Johnson, Senate Democratic leader, had been made to President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers and relayed to Williams.

But Johnson said in Washington: "It ought to be evident to anybody that this is pure political convention nonsense."

At the Montana convention, Symington said the people of the mountain state "have had enough of the stagnation policies of the Republicans in the fields of reclamation, mining, and agriculture."

Kennedy, en route to the Montana convention, held a brief news conference in Des Moines, Iowa, Sunday.

"If the farm policies of the present administration are followed in the next few years, they will bring a recession," he said.

North Dakota Poll May Be Weather Vane

FARGO, N. D. (AP) — North Dakota's neck-and-neck Senate race comes down to the wire today, watched by the nation as a potential weather vane in the presidential election next fall.

The contest pits Gov. John E. Davis, a Republican, against Rep. Quentin Burdick (D-ND). At stake is a seat in the Senate left vacant by the death of Republican Sen. William Langer.

Political analysts are watching it closely for these reasons:

1. As a possible barometer of the farmers' feelings toward Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson and his farm policy, and therefore the outlook in the farm belt for the Republicans next November.

2. The outlook for the GOP in a state which, until recently, has been a rock-ribbed Republican stronghold.

Polls open at 9 a.m. Tuesday. A total ballot of around 200,000 is expected. Some North Dakota observers believe it may exceed the record of 250,000 set in the general election in 1956.

The race looks so close that impartial observers say it may be decided by a few thousand votes either way. Even the partisan backers of Burdick and Davis seldom predict a margin of 10,000 for their man.

Go-Karts Face Court Hearing

Fairgrounds Area Residents Object

Presons who live near the Pickaway County Fairgrounds don't like go-karts.

Saturday they asked to Common Pleas Court to halt go-kart activities on the Fairgrounds. They filed suit against the Pickaway County Agricultural Society and the Circleville "Go-Carters" Club.

Nine residents signed a petition asking the County Common Pleas Court to grant a temporary restraining order against further go-kart racing at the Fairgrounds.

The petition claims that go-karts are racing on a dirt road on the Fairgrounds. It states that go-karts cause great noise, dirt and confusion and are a public nuisance to all persons in the vicinity.

They claim that go-karts endanger the health and safety of these persons and greatly lessen the value of their private homes.

Go-Karts are small, gasoline motor vehicles.

THE LOCAL Go-Kart Assn. is an unincorporated association of individuals engaged in operating and racing go-karts, according to the petition.

The petitioners asked the court for a temporary order restraining continued use of the Fairgrounds for go-kart racing and upon final hearing, to be granted a permanent restraining order.

Petitioners are Milton P. Manson, Route 4; John L. Chilcote, Route 4; Paul H. Betz, Route 4; Frank T. Conkel, Lancaster Pike; John Robinson, 679 E. Mount St.; Robert A. Smith, Route 4; M. D. Lorentz, Lancaster Pike; Ray A. Wilson, 135 Griner Ave., and Frank Carter.

The petitioners are represented by Emmitt L. Crist, 103 1/2 E. Main St. The court set hearing at 10 a. m. Saturday.

'Minor Wars' May Await U.S., Belief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. says the Soviet Union is not likely to start a major war, but may cause cold war pressures "that might involve us in minor military actions."

But he contended during a television interview Sunday that "we're militarily ready and sound" to deal with either a small conflict or a major war.

"Our readiness is intact and sensible, and we can quickly deploy forces and augment forces if we need to do so," he said.

He urged Congress both to provide funds for a new Navy aircraft carrier and to increase the amount voted by the House for foreign aid.

The carrier "is probably one of our great limited war weapons systems," Gates said.

The question of an additional carrier is now before a Senate-House Conference Committee. The House refused to provide money for one, but the Senate voted 293 million dollars.

The conferees compromised on 200 million dollars additional on President Eisenhower's request for $1,337,000,000 for rifles, tanks, troop carriers and other military hardware. The House had added 37 million, the Senate 252 million.

Bids for Route 22 Project To Be Opened in Columbus

Plans for major improvements on Route 22 east of Circleville have been completed by the Ohio Department of Highways, according to an announcement issued today in Columbus.

Contractors will bid tomorrow for the 4.6-mile project.

Estimated final cost of the improvement, including right-of-way and engineering expenses, is $1.2 million. Completion is set for June, 1961. Traffic will be detoured during the construction period via Route 188 and Route 674.

Beginning near Hargus Creek just east of the Circleville-Washington Twp. line, and ending in Fairfield County just beyond the Route 674 intersection, the project will entail flattening hills, filling hollows, and widening the pavement to 24 feet. A few sections needing no grade changes, will be widened and resurfaced only.

One curve, near the Pickaway County Home, will be eliminated by relocation. On a long hill nearby, a truck lane will be added for eastbound traffic.

Route 22 forms part of the Highway Department's major truck system, and is scheduled for a series of long-term up-grading projects. Provisions are being made for eventually adding two more lanes to create a four-lane highway.

Governors Fire Political Guns

Presidential Timber Gets Top Attention

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont. (AP)—Feuding governors are scuffling out party lines as Democrats blast at political kinsmen and Republicans harpoon each other in this election year governors' conference.

With snow-thatched Rockies as a backdrop, the Democratic battle is hot and heavy between adherents of the top contenders for the party's presidential nomination—Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

On the Republican political shooting range, it's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York against a rampaging field of Republican state executives pledging their campaign all for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The score card on Sunday's opening-day round left the definite impression that a sizable majority of Democratic governors believes Kennedy needs only to tie the final strings to have the nomination in the bag.

This is disputed by Johnson's backers. But there seemed almost no sentiment among the governors—most of whom will head state convention delegations—for Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) or Adlai E. Stevenson, who says he won't dodge a draft.

Kennedy supporters among the governors appeared supremely confident their favorite all but has the nomination in the bag.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio, said he now counts 727 first ballot votes for Kennedy toward the 761 needed for nomination. He said that talks with publicly uncommitted governors indicated to him that Kennedy will pick up 30 additional votes above the 727.

"If he ever gets that close on the first ballot, it will be all over with," DiSalle said.

Divers Find Odd Cache in River

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Skin-divers have come up with a safe, two U.S. mailboxes and some other interesting items from the bottom of the Mahoning River in Niles.

The Highway Patrol said the divers checked the river along Belmont Avenue after recovering another safe, which had been stolen June 18 from a state liquor store at Austintown Plaza in Mahoning County.

One of the items brought up Sunday was a weighted bucket containing various papers and records from the office of Teamsters Local 377 and the Niles Fuel & Supply Co.

The Highway Patrol at Canfield said bank books, receipts and other records were found in the bucket.

The safe probably had been in the water "two years, the patrol said, and it was not known whether the safe had been opened.

Ohio Weekend Costs 21 Lives In Accidents

11 Killed on Roads, 4 in Air; 4 Others Lost while Swimming

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio suffered an accidental death toll of at least 21 during the 54-hour weekend ended midnight Sunday, with 11 fatalities in traffic, 4 drownings and 6 in miscellaneous mishaps.

Four of the "miscellaneous" deaths came in a collision in the air between two small planes over Madison County Sunday. All those killed were in one of the planes, the two occupants of the other surviving.

An auto mishap in Sandusky County and one in Logan County each took a pair of lives. Two of the drownings resulted from boating accidents.

The victims ranged from a 3-year-old Dayton area girl whose nightgown caught fire on a kitchen stove to an 81-year-old man, also of near Dayton, who apparently slipped and fell into a creek, drowning.

The fatalities:

Friday Night
Adrian Jeffrey, 13, of the Lebanon area, when an auto in which he was riding crashed into a tree along a township road near Lebanon.

Solem M. Goffstein, 44, Dayton, drowned when a boat overturned in the middle of a small private lake near Amelia (Clermont County.)

Saturday
Mrs. Helen J. Plas, 55, Parma, when the car in which she was riding collided with another auto at a Cuyahoga County intersection.

Teresa Loftis, 3, of the Dayton area, when her nightgown caught fire from a kitchen stove at her home.

Graham L. Armstrong, 42, Cleveland, when his tractor overturned on him while he was clearing a plot of land for a new home in Gates Mills, Cleveland suburb.

Mrs. Helen Heisman, 32, and Blaine Mohr, 70, both of Clyde, when the cars in which they were riding collided at the intersection of Ohio 101 and a Sandusky County road two miles south of Clyde.

Most Juvenile Courts 'Dispense Poor Justice'

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Do juvenile courts take unfair advantage of young people? More than 60 per cent do, by dispensing a poor brand of justice, says Judge Paul W. Alexander of Toledo, Ohio.

"We've got to get judges that won't run these courts like junior criminal courts," the 71-year-old jurist Sunday told the advisory council of judges to the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

"Juvenile courts are designed primarily for correction, not conviction."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, back from a 23,000-mile goodwill tour of the Far East, tells the nation tonight why he reportedly considers it a big success despite cancellation of his Tokyo visit.

His speech from the White House at 6:30 p. m. EST will be carried nationwide by television and radio. Advance reports are that he will stress a belief the trip was valuable in strengthening U.S. ties with the countries he visited.

The chief executive returned to the capital Sunday exactly two weeks after setting out on the trip which took him to Alaska, the Philippines, Formosa, Korea and Hawaii.

He was to have visited Japan as the climax of his tour beginning June 19 but Premier Nobusuke Kishi withdrew the invitation when left-wing and Communist-led riots against a new U.S.-

Japanese security pact caused him to decide he could not guarantee the President's safety.

Stepping jauntily down the ramp from his jet airliner at Andrews Air Force Base, Eisenhower appeared tanned and rested after six days of golfing in Hawaii.

"How was your trip, Mr. President," a reporter asked.

"Oh, pretty good," Eisenhower replied.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter headed a group of officials and foreign dignitaries who welcomed him home.

The President told Nixon and Herter he wanted to get the Cabinet together. They replied they would be ready to meet any time, but he said that first he must get some sleep. He had about 4 1/2 hours of sleep during the 10-hour flight from Hawaii, broken by one refueling stop at Travis Air Base in California.

4 Columbus Area Men Die As Small Airplanes Collide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two small planes collided Sunday, and all four men in one craft were killed when it plunged to the ground. The second plane crashed in a wheat field and the two men aboard survived.

The collision occurred 20 miles northwest of here, 1,500 feet over rural Madison County. Both planes were four-passenger, single-engine jobs.

The surviving pilot told authorities that his propeller chewed up the tail assembly of the second craft, which then dove apparently out of control into a bean field.

The Federal Aviation Agency said all six men were licensed pilots from the Columbus area who were en route to Urbana, Ohio, for breakfast and to see a demonstration of experimental aircraft.

Three other small planes accompanied them on the flight, and the pilot of one radioed authorities news of the collision, said Paul Baker, flight operations inspector of the FAA's general safety district office.

Killed were pilot John Richard Mercer, 34, Columbus, and his passengers: Frank Ponfili DiPietro Jr., 32, Columbus; Ralph V. Smith, 52, Rt. 2, Galena, and Elmer M. Carnell, 38, Worthington.

In the second plane were Walter Lewis Smith, 41, and his passenger, Jacob P. Brennemann, 40, both of Columbus. Smith was not hurt but Brennemann suffered a cut over his eye when their plane crashed-landed, collapsing the landing gear.

Smith told sheriff's deputies that Mercer flew up alongside him, 300 yards off, and radioed that something was wrong with the door of Smith's plane. Mercer's craft then dipped out of Smith's sight, and came up under and in front of Smith's plane, the latter related.

At that point, Smith said, his propeller contacted the tail end of Mercer's plane, which then plunged to the earth at a 45-degree angle.

Smith shut off his vibrating engine and brought his plane down on the Vernon Yutzky farm, about eight miles southwest of Plain City. Mercer's plane crashed on the John Price farm about three miles away.

Both craft had taken off from North Columbus Airport, along with the other three planes.

Eaton and his associates in the State Department, as well as his allies in Geneva, were caught by surprise. They had reckoned Zorin would not dare leave the 10-nation conference until after hearing the new modified program developed in Washington last week and cleared on the weekend with the allies.

Khrushchev apparently is more determined even than previously realized here to press his campaign to discredit President Eisenhower in the wake of the U2 spy plane case and the Paris summit conference collapse. Thus he dares to have his own envoy at Geneva even wait to hear what Eisenhower's ambassador has to say.

Moreover he apparently judges that the relative prestige of the Soviet Union has gone up and that of the United States gone down so that he can get away with such high-handed behavior. On this point Khrushchev may have misjudged the situation; certainly he could easily overplay his hand by crudely offending world peace hopes in his relentless drive to build up Russia's power position.

The Soviet action apparently puts an end to any hope whatever of checking the nuclear arms race for at least a year.

It could mean a further intensification of the arms race.

New U.S. Plan Is Ignored

Reds Say Problem To Be Taken to U.N.

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet bloc walked out of the 10-nation disarmament talks today. The Russians and their communist allies curtly ignored a new American plan for a world disarmament treaty.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin and his colleagues charged the West had refused to negotiate. Zorin said the Soviet Union will place its new plan for "generally and complete disarmament" before the U.N. General Assembly.

Poland's Marian Naszkowski, chairman for the day, rejected all the Western delegates' demands to be heard and, after recognizing all the Soviet bloc delegations in turn, joined in the walkout.

The Western delegations decided to continue the meeting alone under the chairmanship of British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore.

U.S. delegate Frederick M. Eaton then presented the new American disarmament plan, which was still under negotiation among the five Western delegations.

The plan, drafted by Eaton and State and Defense Department officials in Washington last week, provides for three carefully controlled stages of disarmament beginning with the establishment of an international disarmament control organization under the United Nations.

Walking out with the Russians were the delegates of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania and Bulgaria. Remaining were the representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada.

Eaton and his associates in the State Department, as well as his allies in Geneva, were caught by surprise. They had reckoned Zorin would not dare leave the 10-nation conference until after hearing the new modified program developed in Washington last week and cleared on the weekend with the allies.

The main event will be the large parade held on the morning of the 4th at 11 p. m. Thousands of people start lining the streets early for this and stay late into the night for the spectacular fire works display.

The parade this year is being built around the Pickaway County Sesquicentennial Celebration and it is hoped that all organizations of the county will want to enter a float or something of historic importance. Presidential Timber Gets Top Attention

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont. (AP)—Feuding governors are scuffing out party lines as Democrats blast at political kinsmen and Republicans harpoon each other in this election year governors' conference.

With snow-thatched Rockies as a backdrop, the Democratic battle is hot and heavy between adherents of the top contenders for the party's presidential nomination—Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

On the Republican political shooting range, it's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York against a rampaging field of Republican state executives pledging their campaign all for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The score card on Sunday's opening-day round left the deft impression that a sizable majority of Democratic governors believes Kennedy needs only to tie the final strings to have the nomination in the bag.

This is disputed by Johnson's backers. But there seemed almost no sentiment among the governors—most of whom will head state convention delegations—for Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) or Adlai E. Stevenson, who says he won't dodge a draft.

Kennedy supporters among the governors appeared supremely confident their favorite all but has the nomination in the bag.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio, said he now counts 727 first ballot votes for Kennedy toward the 761 needed for nomination. He said that talks with publicly uncommitted governors indicated to him that Kennedy will pick up 39 additional votes above the 727.

"If he ever gets that close on the first ballot, it will be all over with," DiSalle said.

Divers Find Odd Cache in River

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Skin divers have come up with a safe, two U.S. mailboxes and some other interesting items from the bottom of the Mahoning River in Niles.

The Highway Patrol said the divers checked the river along Belmont Avenue after recovering another safe, which had been stolen June 18 from a state liquor store at Austintown Plaza in Mahoning County.

One of the items brought up Sunday was a weighted bucket containing various papers and records from the office of Teamsters Local 377 and the Niles Fuel & Supply Co.

The Highway Patrol at Canfield said bank books, receipts and other records were found in the bucket.

The safe probably had been in the water two years, the patrol said, and it was not known whether the safe had been opened.

Ohio Weekend Costs 21 Lives In Accidents

11 Killed on Roads, 4 in Air; 4 Others Lost while Swimming

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio suffered an accidental death toll of at least 21 during the 54-hour weekend ended midnight Sunday, with 11 fatalities in traffic, 4 drownings and 6 in miscellaneous mishaps.

Four of the "miscellaneous" deaths came in a collision in the air between two small planes over Madison County Sunday. All those killed were in one of the planes, the two occupants of the other surviving.

An auto mishap in Sandusky County and one in Logan County each took a pair of lives. Two of the drownings resulted from boating accidents.

The victims ranged from a 3-year-old Dayton area girl whose nightgown caught fire on a kitchen stove to an 81-year-old man, also of near Dayton, who apparently slipped and fell into a creek, drowning.

The fatalities:
Friday Night
Adrian Jeffrey, 13, of the Lebanon area, when an auto in which he was riding crashed into a tree along a township road near Lebanon.

Solem M. Goffstein, 44, Dayton, drowned when a boat overturned in the middle of a small private lake near Amelia (Clermont County).

Most Juvenile Courts 'Dispense Poor Justice'

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Do juvenile courts take unfair advantage of young people? More than 60 per cent do, by dispensing a poor brand of justice, says Judge Paul W. Alexander of Toledo, Ohio.

"We've got to get judges that won't run these courts like junior criminal courts," the 71-year-old jurist Sunday told the advisory council of judges to the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

"Juvenile courts are designed primarily for correction, not conviction."

Ike To Report On Trip Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, back from a 23,000-mile goodwill tour of the Far East, tells the nation tonight why he reportedly considers it a big success despite cancellation of his Tokyo visit.

His speech from the White House at 6:30 p. m. EST will be carried nationwide by television and radio. Advance reports are that he will stress a belief the trip was valuable in strengthening U.S. ties with the countries he visited.

The chief executive returned to the capital Sunday exactly two weeks after setting out on the trip which took him to Alaska, the Philippines, Formosa, Korea and Hawaii.

He was to have visited Japan as the climax of his tour beginning June 19 but Premier Nobusuke Kishi withdrew the invitation when left-wing and Communist-led riots against a new U.S.-

Japanese security pact caused him to decide he could not guarantee the President's safety.

Stepping jauntily down the ramp from his jet airliner at Andrews Air Force Base, Eisenhower appeared tanned and rested after six days of golfing in Hawaii.

"How was your trip, Mr. President," a reporter asked.

"Oh, pretty good," Eisenhower replied.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter headed a group of officials and foreign diplomats who welcomed him home.

The President told Nixon and Herter he wanted to get the Cabinet together. They replied they would be ready to meet any time, but he said that first he must get some sleep. He had about 4 1/2 hours of sleep during the 10-hour flight from Hawaii, broken by one refueling stop at Travis Air Base in California.

4 Columbus Area Men Die As Small Airplanes Collide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two small planes collided Sunday, and all four men in one craft were killed when it plunged to the ground. The second plane crashed in a wheat field and the two men aboard survived.

The collision occurred 20 miles northwest of here, 1,500 feet over rural Madison County. Both planes were four-passenger, single-engine jobs.

The surviving pilot told authorities that his propeller chewed up the tail assembly of the second craft, which then dove apparently out of control into a bean field.

The Federal Aviation Agency said all six men were licensed pilots from the Columbus area who were en route to Urbana, Ohio, for breakfast and to see a demonstration of experimental aircraft.

Three other small planes accompanied them on the flight, and the pilot of one radioed authorities news of the collision, said Paul Baker, flight operations inspector of the FAA's general safety district office.

Killed were pilot John Richard Mercer, 34, Columbus, and his passengers: Frank Poffilo DiPietro Jr., 32, Columbus; Ralph V. Smith, 52, Rt. 2, Galena, and Elmer M. Carnell, 38, Worthington.

In the second plane were Walter Lewis Smith, 41, and his passenger, Jacob P. Brennemann, 40, both of Columbus. Smith was not hurt but Brennemann suffered a cut over his eye when their plane crash-landed, collapsing the landing gear.

Smith told sheriff's deputies that Mercer flew up alongside him, 300 yards off, and radioed that something was wrong with the door of Smith's plane. Mercer's craft then dipped out of Smith's sight, and came up under and in front of Smith's plane, the latter related.

At that point, Smith said, his propeller contacted the tail end of Mercer's plane, which then plunged to the earth at a 45-degree angle.

Smith shut off his vibrating engine and brought his plane down on the Vernon Yutzky farm, about eight miles southwest of Plain City. Mercer's plane crashed on the John Price farm about three miles away.

Both craft had taken off from North Columbus Airport, along with the other three planes.

sification of the cold war. Zorin had repeatedly accused the United States and its allies of stalling.

He had insisted that they must accept the Soviet proposal as a basis for negotiations and had repeatedly refused himself to accept any Western proposition even for serious discussion.

Zorin's attitude hardened after the disarmament talks resumed. They had recessed for the scheduled summit conference.

Zorin's tactics led to the belief here that Khrushchev intended to apply to Geneva negotiations the line he took in torpedoing the summit conference—that it would not be possible to reach any agreement with the United States so long as Eisenhower is president.

No resumption of negotiations, therefore, can be foreseen until after the change in administrations next January and until an additional few months during which a new U.S. executive and new secretary of state will figure out their policies—all together, at least a year from now.

Collapse of the disarmament talks, which had been deadlocked from the moment they began, raises serious question as to whether negotiations among the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union for a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests will not also be called off.

If that happens, it will raise one of the most serious problems of any of the series of crises which has followed the failure of a U2 spy plane flight May 1, and the subsequent breakdown of U.S.-Soviet relations.

New U.S. Plan

sification of the cold war. Zorin had repeatedly accused the United States and its allies of stalling.

He had insisted that they must accept the Soviet proposal as a basis for negotiations and had repeatedly refused himself to accept any Western proposition even for serious discussion.

Zorin's attitude hardened after the disarmament talks resumed. They had recessed for the scheduled summit conference.

Zorin's tactics led to the belief here that Khrushchev intended to apply to Geneva negotiations the line he took in torpedoing the summit conference—that it would not be possible to reach any agreement with the United States so long as Eisenhower is president.

No resumption of negotiations, therefore, can be foreseen until after the change in administrations next January and until an additional few months during which a new U.S. executive and new secretary of state will figure out their policies—all together, at least a year from now.

Collapse of the disarmament talks, which had been deadlocked from the moment they began, raises serious question as to whether negotiations among the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union for a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests will not also be called off.

If that happens, it will raise one of the most serious problems of any of the series of crises which has followed the failure of a U2 spy plane flight May 1, and the subsequent breakdown of U.S.-Soviet relations.

English Return to English

Trends toward scientific emphasis in education have finally succeeded in infiltrating that bastion of liberal arts, Oxford University. No longer will science students be required to have an acquaintance with Latin and Greek languages for admittance to the famed English university.

Two modern languages have been substituted for the ancient tongues, and English will be a requirement. It seems even the upper levels of English education are having trouble with the native language. An examination in the use of English will be a requirement for admission to the exclusive school after 1964.

Many American institutions are re-treating in their de-emphasis a few years ago of a literate understanding of the English language. They have discovered that engineers, scientists and other professional people are hampered by an inadequate knowledge of the common communication. Scholarship and knowledge are of limited use to a mind which cannot express itself nor add to its stores of knowledge through good reading habits.

Good reading, writing and speaking habits can be formed through intensive efforts at self-perfection, but they are more thorough when implanted through the wisdom and with the aid of the many properties of professional higher education. Modern man requires specialization like none before him. His training must necessarily narrow to specific fields of interest as his formal schooling nears completion.

With one exception, graduates of a dozen different colleges will have experienced few courses in common. That exception is the mastery of the English tongue. The higher the stature one achieves in the worlds of business and science, the greater the demands for articulate expression.

Re-emphasis of English usage in schools renowned for the high caliber of their graduates is a welcome indication that civilization will digress no longer from its literate as well as scientific progress.

Powerful 'Eye' Developed

American scientists are currently conducting an experiment in sound. With giant radio impulse receivers turned skyward, they are waiting for the slightest unidentifiable ping on their radio sets. If such a radio noise is received, they will rejoice. It will mean the experiment to contact possible creatures living in outer space may have been successful.

To supplement these ears, Westinghouse researchers have developed the most sensitive "eyes" yet known to man. Consisting of a electronic tube called astracon, the device magnifies the number of photons (basic units of light) by changing them to electrons, multiplying these many times and projecting them at tremendous speeds against a sensitized film. By this process, scientists estimate they will be able to magnify an object of 20,000 times the brightness recorded by the human eye.

Many uses are envisioned for the electronic eye, including night military warfare. With the aid of this instrument, a soldier could light up an enemy's position as though it were daylight. But its greatest potential lies in further discoveries in other stellar constellations. Utilizing the electronic eye in conjunction with the 200-inch telescope of Mt. Palomar, for example, would extend a man's vision far beyond the present one to two-billion-light year limit.

When man begins scanning horizons never before witnessed and continues his listening for signs of contact, he will have extended his senses farther into space than he will be able to travel in his lifetime. Whether he will discover life is questionable, but in either case his knowledge of the universe of which he is such a tiny part is about to be multiplied as many times as his visual perception of it.

Top Men Had Low Grades

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If your child wound up the school year with low grades, it might console him to know that George Washington was a shaky speller—he always spelled the color blue as blew. And Napoleon's handwriting was so illegible his letters sometimes were mistaken for battle maps.

Thomas A. Edison went only three months to a grammar school. The other children called him dunce, and his teacher said he was too added to learn. But who today remembers any of those children or the name of that teacher?

A survey showed that most doctors don't get a medical checkup themselves as often as do their patients. Maybe they just eat an apple a day.

Prosperity note: About 13.5 percent of all American families now own two or more cars.

Our quotable notables: "Every man has a right to utter what he thinks truth," said Samuel Johnson, "and every other man has a right to knock him down for it."

Here's one of the ironies of history: President Eisenhower's mother once spanked him because he said he wanted to grow up to be a soldier.

Odd legislation: A reader informs us that it's illegal to drive a car in Oregon with your shoes off. And your punishment is a dose of castor oil if you are caught stealing fruit in Yuma, Ariz.

In Charleston, W. Va., you mustn't burn down your house unless you first remove the roof. The rifleman: Pioneer woodsman Daniel Boone usually carried a copy of "Gulliver's Travels" along when he was hunting or fighting Indians.

Gag of the week: Comics Phil Ford and Mimi Hines say they know a gypsy fortuneteller who had to quit the business because her mind kept wandering.

Socrates was a poor husband but a perfect philosopher. When asked why he married—his wife constantly nagged—he is said to have replied: "My aim in life is to get on well with people. I chose Xanthippe because I knew if I could get on well with her, I could get along with anyone."

Quick! Do you know what a "Kiss-me-quick" is? It is the ring of hair a girl wears in front of her ear.

It was Franklin D. Roosevelt who observed, "A radical is a man with both feet firmly planted in the air."

10 Reds Kicked Out of U.S.

The following is a list of Soviet nationals who during the past 10 years have been declared to be persona non grata or who were removed from the duties assigned to them in the United States by our government:

Yuri Vasilyevich Novikov was attaché of the Soviet Embassy, Washington D. C., later second secretary and from 1950 to mid 1952 was editor of official Soviet Embassy publication, "Information Bulletin," left the United States on Jan. 19, 1953.

Igor Aleksandrovich Amosov, assistant Soviet naval attaché, Soviet Embassy, left the United States on Feb. 7, 1954.

Aleksandr Petrovich Kovalev, second secretary of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations and later assistant Soviet naval attaché in Washington, D. C., left the United States on Feb. 10, 1954.

Leonid Igorovich Pivnev, assistant Soviet air attaché, left the United States June 6, 1954.

Aleksandr Konstantinovich Guryanov, employee of Soviet delegation to the United Nations, left the United States May 9, 1956.

Ivan Aleksandrovich Bubnikov, assistant Soviet Military attaché left the United States June 24, 1956.

Rostislav E. Shapovalov, second secretary of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations, left the United States Sept. 12, 1956.

Viktor Ivanovich Petrov, translator at United Nations Secretariat, requested to leave United States Aug. 23, 1956, which he did.

Konstantin Pavlovich Ekimov, second secretary of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations, left United States Nov. 30, 1956.

Yuri Pavlovich Krylov, assistant Soviet military attaché, Washington D. C., left the United States Jan. 28, 1957.

Vassili Mikhailovich Molev, property custodian, Soviet Embassy, Washington, D. C., left the United States Jan. 28, 1957.

Vladimir Arsenievich Grusha, first secretary of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations, left the United States April 10, 1957.

Gennadi Fedorovich Mashkantsyev, employee of Consulate Division, Soviet Embassy, Washington, D. C., left the United States April 23, 1957.

Nikolai Ivanovich Kurochkin, third secretary, Soviet Embassy, Washington, D. C., left the United States June 11, 1958.

Vladimir Aleksandrovich Kirilyuk, political affairs officer, United Nations Secretariat, asked to leave the United States, Jan. 10, 1960, which he did.

This is part of the record which tells the story of the use of official positions to spy on the country for which they have exequaturs. The assumption must be that men in such positions do not spy.

Our government has been extraordinarily lenient and has bent over backwards to avoid incidents. Nevertheless, it was forced to take a stand against overt spies. In this is not included the atomic spy cases, the Judith Coplon case, and a great many instances of economic and commercial experience.

The question has been asked of me as to what use is it to publish such facts? Does it not stir up public opinion? Is this not an example of yellow journalism? Does it not encourage and stimulate a desire for war?

It seems to me that these are wrong questions. The function of journalism is to produce the facts, to dig away into the mass of published and unpublished material with the object of providing the people with the knowledge they should have.

Then it is for the people to decide. This is particularly true this year when there is to be an election and the debate among the people must be continuous.

PLEADS GUILTY—Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, Brink's robbery informer, pleaded guilty in Boston in connection with the $1 million, fantastic heist in Boston in January, 1950, and was sentenced to three to four years in state prison. However, Judge Felix Forte gave him credit for the four years he already has been in custody. O'Keefe's testimony in 1956 sent eight other men to prison.

A PRETTY LASS answered an ad for a secretary, but came back home in high indignation. "The man who interviewed me came up behind me and deliberately pinched me," she reported, "so I slapped him in the face and walked out."

"I wouldn't have done that," mused the mother. "Why didn't you report him to the head of the firm?"

"Mama," explained the girl, "the man who pinched me is the head of the firm."

Two lads from the deep South were tooting merrily along the highway in a battered jalopy when the driver suddenly jammed on the brakes. The boys shuddered as an express train thundered by a scant six feet before them. "Whatcha blow that horn for?" gasped the passenger. "I didn't," answered the driver. "That horn you heard was Gabriel's!"

Welfare Chief Welcomes Minimum Wage Hearings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Minimum wage hearings for the laundry and retail industries are welcomed by Welfare Director Mary Gorman.

She cites an increasing need for poor relief to help women trying to support families on low wages.

"When their income is insufficient, we make up the difference," Mrs. Gorman explains.

"But," she adds, "some don't work because they feel they can live better on relief."

Minimum wage regulations affecting about 14,000 women and minors in the laundry industry are in the making. A survey of more than 1,000 laundries showed that pay ranged upwards from 48 cents an hour. The average was $1.03.

The wage floor will be set by a nine-member board to be announced soon by Miss Margaret A. Mahoney, director of industrial relations. Open hearings by the board are due to start next month.

Those hearings will be followed by sessions to set minimum wages for possibly 300,000 employees in department stores, specialty shops and similar retail establishments.

Wage boards are composed of three representatives each for industry, labor and the public.

Labor generally has plucked for minimum wages. Industry has opposed them. Recent Legislatures have refused to enact general minimum wage proposals.

Miss Mahoney pointed out that she is required to name wage boards for various industries upon receipt of petitions bearing 50 names. She has received petitions containing more than 1,000 signatures.

At present, Ohio has a 90-cent hourly minimum wage for the dry cleaning industry and a floor under pay for employees in the food and lodging business. For non-service employees, it is 70 cents an hour and for those who get tips it is 55 cents.

Labor generally has plugged for minimum wages. Industry has opposed them. Recent Legislatures have refused to enact general minimum wage proposals.

Miss Mahoney pointed out that she is required to name wage boards for various industries upon receipt of petitions bearing 50 names. She has received petitions containing more than 1,000 signatures.

At present, Ohio has a 90-cent hourly minimum wage for the dry cleaning industry and a floor under pay for employees in the food and lodging business. For non-service employees, it is 70 cents an hour and for those who get tips it is 55 cents.

When U.S. Sen. John F. Kennedy telephoned Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to ask for a little lobbying in his behalf at the Governors' Conference, a secretary told the governor: "The next President is on the phone." DiSalle has predicted Kennedy's nomination on an early ballot at the Democratic National Convention.

Freedom to worship God will be the major issue in the November election, says incumbent State Auditor James A. Rhodes, regardless of claims to the contrary. "America cannot afford to have leaders in government who apologize for atheists," he asserts.

In campaign talks, Rhodes terms Vice President Richard M. Nixon the champion of religious freedom because the Republican presidential aspirant stood up to the leader of atheistic Communism in his own homeland.

The auditor says he is campaigning on the issue because he is convinced that religious freedom is vital alike to Protestants, Catholics, Jews and other believers.

"The paramount issue in the campaign eventually will reduce itself to freedom of worship," Rhodes says.

"Those who believe in God will have a common cause for hundreds of years ahead. America was founded on the fundamentals of and in the spirit of religious freedom."

"Every person, regardless of political beliefs, will eventually band together to protect and preserve this freedom."

Rhodes concedes that the Democrats have some excellent candidates for President. He adds that a number of Republicans also are well qualified for the nation's highest office.

"But the mere fact that world events permitted the vice president, in a kitchen at the Moscow Fair, to shake his finger at (Soviet Premier) Khrushchev, has placed Nixon head and shoulders ahead of the rest of the candidates. He talked back and told Khrushchev the philosophy of the American people."

MORE INDEPENDENCE—Newest area to have freedom in Africa is the Mali Federation, formerly the French colonies of Senegal and Sudan. The Mali Federation, with more than 6,000,000 population, is the first African member of the French community of nations. Nearly twice size of Texas.

JUDY ANKROM and LITTLE WONDER

Judy at Mid-Western Show

Judy Ankrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ankrom, Route 1, will again be exhibiting her show ponies, "Little Wonder" and "Gunsmoke" at the Mid-Western Horse Show and Rodeo to be held at the Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus, Thursday through July 4.

Judy will be competing with some of the top western ponies in the nation since the show is one of the largest in the Midwest and attracts exhibitors from a great many states. She will endeavor to bring home some of the outstanding trophies and ribbons awarded by the Mid-Western to add to her large collection accumulated during the past five years.

Mid-Western will feature halter and performance classes for Appaloosas, Arabians, Morgans, Palominos, Quarter Horses, Western Horses and Ponies, Calf Roping, Cattle Cutting and rodeo events.

This year the entire Saturday afternoon performance is devoted to 4-H classes and FFA Fat Steer Show, along with rodeo cutting and roping events.

Drowning of Toledo Boy Probed by Authorities

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Authorities are investigating the drowning early Sunday of Frank Stepp, 13-year-old Toledo boy, in Crane Creek. The boy went fishing with three men Saturday night at the creek east of here.

One of the men, Carmen Hutchinson, 41, jumped into the water, saying he was going swimming. He had trouble in the water, and by the time the others got him aboard they discovered that Stepp was missing. The body was found four hours later in five feet of water.

Traffic Caution Needed at Park

Circleville Police and City Council have joined in urging parents to remind children to use extra precaution at the entrances and exits at Ted Lewis Park.

Officers and councilmen said the heavy flow of traffic on N. Court St. requires alertness on the part of all motorists and children entering and leaving the park. They said no serious accidents have occurred at the area so far this year, although there have been several close calls.

Police said children go to and from the park all day long during the summer months. Little and Babe Ruth baseball games at night also draw many players and fans.

The most critical traffic point is at the park entrance at N. Court and Rosewood Ave., officers said. Many persons coming to the park use this approach, they said.

ANOTHER danger point is the exit at the first alley south of Rosewood Ave. Only traffic leaving the park is permitted to use this alley.

Police said many people walk through the alley to enter the park. They urged exiting drivers to use care through the narrow lane.

Local CD Radio Club Takes Part in Nationwide Contest

The Circleville-Pickaway County Civil Defense Radio Club participated in a successful Field Day Exercise during the weekend.

The Field Day was in the form of an amateur radio operator contest on a nationwide and international basis. The local unit made contact with stations all over the globe.

Base camp for the Circleville-Pickaway station was at the George Marshall property near the Pickaway-Fairfield County line, a short distance north of Route 22.

The Marshall farm camp site rises to an elevation of 1,150 feet. This is 425 feet above Circleville elevation.

OFFICERS of the Radio Club said points visible at the ideal camp site included Lockbourne Air Force Base to the north, Lancaster to the east, Chillicothe to the south and the DuPont plant to the west.

Club members said this marked the third year the local unit has participated in the Field Day Contest, sponsored by the American Radio Relay League. At noon yesterday, they said all states west of the Mississippi River except Oregon had been contacted.

Members said sending and receiving here was excellent during the entire weekend. Points contacted outside the U. S. A. included Canada, Australia, Hawaii and Cuba.

Field gear here included two high antennae, a sturdy generator, several tents and necessary lighting and radio equipment. Local men participating in the exercise were Communication Officer Ned Young and Senior Radio Officer Ed Whaley and members George Myers, Dan Grant, Earl Byer, David Young, Richard England and Sam Ritter. Harry Timmons, Circleville Civil Defense head, also aided in setting up the operation.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Jacobs, 443 E. Mound St. and the late Lloyd Jacobs. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Curry, Sr., Route 4.

The church was decorated with altar vases of white gladioli and daisies, palms and two seven branch candelabras.

Mrs. Marjorie Vogt provided a half hour of music at the organ with the Rev. Quanstron, Chillicothe, singing "Because", "On Promise Me", and "The Lords Prayer".

The bride given in marriage by her brother, John Jacobs, London, was attired in a floor length gown, with an old fashioned hoop. The dress was fashioned of chantilly lace and imported tulle. Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Don't You Heckle Him, too!

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 37-year-old married man who goes out in the garage or down in the basement to sneak a smoke when his parents are visiting? His father disapproves of tobacco and doesn't know that his son has been smoking ever since we were married, 12 years ago. I keep telling my husband I think it's the silliest thing I have ever heard of.

Don't you think if a grown man wants to smoke he should be man enough to smoke in front of his father?

SMOKER'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It's HIS father and HIS decision. A 37-year-old man who has to sneak his smokes has plenty of problems without a wife heckling him. Lay off.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend of whom I think a great deal. But she has a nasty little habit which I'd like to tell her about, but can't. When playing cards, she will lick her fingers before every card she plays, and also before dealing. Consequently, the cards become unpleasant to handle. How can I ask her to discontinue this fault which is unhygienic and disgusting for her fellow players?

REVOLTED
DEAR REVOLTED: Call a spade a spade before she has a chance to get her hands on the deck. Tell her, "The cards are slick, so please don't lick."

DEAR ABBY: Every Sunday, just as I'm ready to go to church, my neighbor sends her two children over to ride along with me. This neighbor and her husband be- long to the same church, but they never go.

I don't mind taking the children but I feel that by taking them perhaps I am making it too easy for my neighbors to stay away from church. Also, if these chil- dren had no other way to get to church, I could feel really good about driving them there.

Please tell me, Abby, should I refuse to take these children, or should I continue to take them, and burn silently?

DO GOODER
DEAR DO GOODER: Continue to take the children, but there's no sense in "burning". The kind of parents who would consistently send their children to church with the neighbors are not likely to go to church themselves just to get their children there.

CONFIDENTIAL TO B U Z Z:
Your friends sound like blisters. They show up after all the work has been done. There must be others who are worthier of your friendship. Look around.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamp- ed, self-addressed envelope.

Personals

Miss Margie Carmean, 225 E. Franklin St. has returned home after spending a week at Confer- ence Point, on Lake Geneva at Wil- liams Bay, Wis., attending a con- ference of the Association of Coun- cil Executives. Mrs. A. H. Morris, Watt St., was a guest at a birthday dinner at 1 p. m. yesterday, given by Mrs. Lee Alexander, Ashville, for her daughter, Janet.

Mrs. B. T. Hedges, 316 Watt St., has returned home from Troy where she visited her brother, Ralph M. Given, a patient at Stou- der Memorial Hospital, Troy.

Want to use honey instead of sugar in a pie meringue? Beat a couple of egg whites until stiff, then gradually beat in three table- spoons of honey until the mixture holds its shape. Brown in the oven.

Mrs. Ernest John Teichert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Ra- der, 105 Northridge Road, and Dr.

Edward Steidle, were married June 20 in St. Margaret's Church, Narberth, Pa.

The bride has been principal of the Grandview Heights Element- ary Schools, Columbus since 1953. Dr. Edward Steidle is Dean Em- eritus of the College of Mineral In- dustries, Pennsylvania State Uni- versity. Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Don't You Heckle Him, too!

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 37-year-old married man who goes out in the garage or down in the basement to sneak a smoke when his parents are visiting? His father disapproves of tobacco and doesn't know that his son has been smoking ever since we were married, 12 years ago. I keep telling my husband I think it's the silliest thing I have ever heard of.

Don't you think if a grown man wants to smoke he should be man enough to smoke in front of his father?

SMOKER'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It's HIS father and HIS decision. A 37-year-old man who has to sneak his smokes has plenty of problems without a wife heckling him. Lay off.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend of whom I think a great deal. But she has a nasty little habit which I'd like to tell her about, but can't. When playing cards, she will lick her fingers before every card she plays, and also before dealing. Consequently, the cards become unpleasant to handle. How can I ask her to discontinue this fault which is unhygienic and disgusting for her fellow players?

REVOLTED
DEAR REVOLTED: Call a spade a spade before she has a chance to get her hands on the deck. Tell her, "The cards are slick, so please don't lick."

DEAR ABBY: Every Sunday, just as I'm ready to go to church, my neighbor sends her two children over to ride along with me. This neighbor and her husband belong to the same church, but they never go.

I don't mind taking the children but I feel that by taking them perhaps I am making it too easy for my neighbors to stay away from church. Also, if these children had no other way to get to church, I could feel really good about driving them there.

Please tell me, Abby, should I refuse to take these children, or should I continue to take them, and burn silently?

DO GOODER
DEAR DO GOODER: Continue to take the children, but there's no sense in "burning". The kind of parents who would consistently send their children to church with the neighbors are not likely to go to church themselves just to get their children there.

CONFIDENTIAL TO B U Z Z: Your friends sound like blisters. They show up after all the work has been done. There must be others who are worthier of your friendship. Look around.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Russia Is Revisited

Soviets Slow To Believe All Khrushchev Tells Them

Editor's Note — William L. Ryan has revisited the Soviet Union after an absence of seven years. This is the first of five stories in which the Russian-speaking news analyst compares the Russias of Stalin and Khrushchev, pointing up the problems that today's Soviet leader faces in trying to discredit the United States. Ryan wrote these uncensored dispatches after leaving Moscow.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
The citizen of Moscow, expert at spotting foreigners, approaches you shyly.

Excuse me," he says. "are you German?"
You shake your head.
"English?"

You say you are American. The shyness vanishes. He breaks into a broad happy smile and showers you with questions.

The pattern was much the same in many an encounter during long walks in Moscow's hot summer sun.

The smiles are tokens of one of Nikita Khrushchev's big worries. Many Russians are not willing to believe all he tells them about the West.

That is a factor behind the Kremlin's strenuous campaign to blacken the name of President Eisenhower and vilify American leadership. But my experiences, coupled with samplings by competent Western observers in the capital and countryside, indicate majority of Russians do not want to believe all that Khrushchev is telling them today.

Torrents of abuse have been poured on the United States by Moscow's propaganda machine since the U2 spy plane incident and the collapsed summit conference. But ordinary Russians remain cordial and friendly — perhaps more than ever — to visiting Americans.

Russian popular opinion did react to the American confession of spy flights over Russia. The reaction amounted to a feeling of hurt and disappointment rather than one of anger. The attitude seems to reflect genuine fear that Soviet-American relations will bring back the iciest days of the cold war, in contrast to the warmth generated by Khrushchev's United States visit.

There can be little question about this: Russians hope for a higher standard of living. They relate this hope to better relations with the United States. They relate their fears of dashed dreams to the specter of renewed cold war.

But in the Communist party, the Soviet army and among Communist allies — particularly the Red Chinese — certain elements viewed the Khrushchev peace campaign as dangerous to the communist world movement.

Some among the eight million members of the ruling Communist party line were worried. Were their privileges in danger? Just one straw in the wind: some new apartment housing projects were giving priority to those needing housing rather than offering first chance to privileged party members.

Some in the armed forces were annoyed. Officers, high as the rank of general and admiral, had been demobilized and sent to civilian tasks, often as administrators of enterprises in remote, primitive areas — hardly suitable places for officers' ladies accustomed to the amenities of a privileged caste.

Khrushchev evidently reacted to these pressures.

The U2 incident provided an opportunity to backtrack on the overdose of peace and smiles. At high levels, the cold war was on again. At lower levels, Russians were reluctant to accept the idea.

Today, many a Russian has raised his sights. Hopeful of buying the things he wants, he even dreams of emulating the Americans and traveling on his own, unguarded and unshepherded, to foreign lands.

To such Russians elimination of dangerous tension means hope that a living standard approaching the West's is an attainable goal. That's why they want to believe in better relations with the United States.

THE OHIO FUEL GAS COMPANY... Beyond Our Gas Main Use L-P Gas

The Circleville Herald, Mon. June 27, 1960

Ohio's State Library Chief Recalls His Boyhood Reading

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the son of a steelworker in Massillon, Ohio, Walter Brahm grew up "not knowing where our next meal was coming from."

"We did read considerably, however, and the place we used the most was the library," Brahm recalls. "I was just fortunate that we lived in Massillon."

"Many other communities in Ohio, then and today, do not have such library facilities."

Today Brahm is Ohio's state librarian. His boyhood recollections were contained in a letter to Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio), protesting Bow's opposition to federal aid for rural libraries.

Stated briefly, Brahm's point is this: People living in 57 essentially rural counties of Ohio are being badly neglected by the state when it comes to decent libraries. Therefore, he says, since Ohio is spending 90 per cent of an annual 21-million-dollar appropriation for libraries in urban areas, the government should step in.

Bow doesn't agree with this approach at all. He notes in particular that sponsors of the library aid program promised it would last only five years, and now want to renew it for another five in 1961.

"It is just incomprehensible to me why you insist on federal contributions to the libraries of the State of Ohio when we now have a national debt of 288½ billion dollars," Bow wrote Brahm.

As for the distribution of Ohio funds, Bow said Brahm should "complain to your governor and your state representatives."

But Brahm, in a letter to another opponent of federal aid to libraries, Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio), set forth in some detail his claim of discrimination against rural libraries.

This is his contention: Nineteen million dollars in "a year went for libraries in the big city areas of Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo, Dayton, Akron, Canton, Youngstown, Lorain, Warren, Hamilton, Lima, Ashtabula, Springfield, Salem, Mansfield, Steubenville, Newark and others."

That left $2,300,000 for the 57 Ohio rural counties. For example, Adams County got $6,326 to operate two libraries; Monroe County got $10,509; Noble County could spend only $4,000; Pike County had $6,333.

"You can boast of the wealth of Ohio, and we are right with you," Brahm wrote Brown. "But as far as libraries are concerned, that wealth is in the hands of a comparatively few."

Bow doesn't agree with this approach at all. He notes in particular that sponsors of the library aid program promised it would last only five years, and now want to renew it for another five in 1961.

"It is just incomprehensible to me why you insist on federal contributions to the libraries of the State of Ohio when we now have a national debt of 288½ billion dollars," Bow wrote Brahm.

As for the distribution of Ohio funds, Bow said Brahm should "complain to your governor and your state representatives."

But Brahm, in a letter to an other opponent of federal aid to libraries, Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio), set forth in some detail his claim of discrimination against rural libraries.

This is his contention: Nineteen million dollars in a year went for libraries in the big city areas of Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo, Dayton, Akron, Canton, Youngstown, Lorain, Warren, Hamilton, Lima, Ashtabula, Springfield, Salem, Mansfield, Steubenville, Newark and others.

That left $2,200,000 for the 57 Ohio rural counties. For example, Adams County got $6,526 to operate two libraries; Monroe County got $10,509; Noble County could spend only $4,000; Pike County had $6,333.

"You can boast of the wealth of Ohio, and we are right with you," Brahm wrote Brown. "But as far as libraries are concerned, that wealth is in the hands of a comparatively few."

How Future Business Looks

National Economy Healthy, But Advance Slows Down

Editor's Note: At mid-year 1960, the national economy is healthy but the rate of advance has slowed down. What's ahead for the rest of the year? Economists think business will be on a high plateau, having only a slight incline and some believe there is a chance for a recession in early or middle 1961. In the following article, Sterling F. Green of the Washington Associated Press staff reviews business as of now.

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — There's less business buoyancy this June than there was in January. Still, the midyear finds many more optimists than pessimists in Washington.

A majority of economists interviewed predict the economy will keep on making gains and setting records throughout 1960, and possibly beyond.

But the rate of advance has slowed markedly. It may slow further. National output probably will show less growth in the last part of the year than it did in the first quarter alone.

By the year-end, in the private view of government and industry economists, the economy will be moving on a high plateau having only a slight incline.

The time to watch out for a recession, if one is in the offing, is in early or middle 1961, some of the experts believe.

Meantime the outlook for the second half of 1960 is for:

1. A national output totaling about 507 billion dollars worth of goods and services. That is lower, by around five billion, than the average of the new year's forecasts. It would be 5 per cent better than last year's gross national product, however.

2. A stable cost of living. Consumer prices are expected to advance by not much more than 1 per cent during the entire year, in spite of the May bulge caused by bad crop weather.

3. A rather sluggish job picture. Employment keeps setting records, but it is not full employment. Joblessness is staying stubbornly close to 5 per cent of the working force, compared with 4 per cent or less in recent years of high prosperity.

4. Rising incomes. Total personal income probably has topped by now the 400-billion-dollar mark; it reached 399½ billion in May. The steady rise of wages, salaries and other forms of income has surprised many economists. Income rose during the 1959 steel strike and this year's March weather setback.

5. Strong consumer demand. Most economists believe the consumer is the real key to business growth in second-half 1960. The householder's proven willingness to borrow and spend should offset an already visible slowdown in business outlays.

6. Easier credit. The Federal Reserve Board's decision on June 3 to cut the discount rate — the interest charge on money it lends to banks — amounts to a proclamation that the board will wield its huge money power to stimulate business activity.

The board's move had a curiously stimulative effect. Nine times out of 10 in the past, businessmen would have taken alarm. They would have interpreted a drop in the discount rate as an official recognition that a recession already was under way.

This time, the stock market went up and business confidence firmed. Businessmen generally accepted at face value the board's emphatic statement that "the economy is on a solid base and inflationary psychology has lessened."

Baltimore Regains Lead in American

Jim Gentile, a conditional purchase from Los Angeles last fall, is showing the Baltimore Orioles how to take charge of the American League.

Gentile's seven runs batted in Sunday helped the Orioles regain first place by a one-game margin over the New York Yankees. His three hits in five at bats sent him into first place in the league batting race at .347 with a 10-point edge over Boston's Pete Runnels. The slugger first baseman is right up there in RBI too with 49, good for second place.

The former Dodger farmhand wasn't the whole show in Baltimore's success story. Chuck Estrada, a young rookie right-hander, had a no-hitter going for seven innings and wound up with a two-hitter in the Orioles' 9-2 victory over Kansas City.

New York faltered after Whitey Ford had pitched the Yanks to a 6-2 first-game victory over Cleveland with a four-hitter.

Despite Roger Maris' two home runs the second 7-6 in 11 innings on an error by Maris. After the

TV Unit Nips Newark Twice

Neff and Reid Hurl Two-Hitters

Kenny Reid and Paul Neff combined for a pair of two-hitters Saturday night as Stonerock's TV swept a doubleheader from Newark Rockwell Axle in Eastern Ohio Fastball league play at Ted Lewis Park.

Stonerock's snared the first game in the sixth inning when Donny Neff powered a home run for the contest's only score, 1-0. Reid scoreless for four innings in the second game, Stonerock's suddenly exploded for 12 runs as Reid shutout Newark, 12-0.

A fumbled popout lost the first hit for Newark. Neff's foul down first base line popped out of the catcher's glove. On the next pitch he sent a screaming home run over the right fielder's outstretched hands.

Paul Neff fanned nine and walked one in the first. Newell was the loser, whiffing one and walking one. Harold Gulick and Paul Neff hit two-baggers in the initial tilt.

NEWARK, which arrived "in the nick of time" to prevent a forfeit, was handicapped by having only nine men. Newell was forced to hurl the second contest.

Newell was in constant trouble for the first four innings but managed to retire the side each time without a run scoring. Not so in the fifth, when Stonerock's shoved five runs across. The TVers plated three runs in the sixth and four in the seventh.

Donny Neff came back with a second game home run along with Carl Gulick. Winning hurler Reid and Carl Gulick hit doubles. Reid struck out 11 and issued four free passes.

The tiring Newell walked 10 and whiffed three. Leading hitters for the two-game series were Harold Gulick, 4 for 7; Carl Gulick, 3 for 8; Don Neff, 2 for 6, both homers, and Reid, 2 for 2.

Palmer Helps Win Trophy, Heads for British Open

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland (AP) — Arnold Palmer, who teamed with Sam Snead in winning the Canada Cup golf trophy for the United States, left for Scotland today with some new shots in his bag and hopes of adding the British Open to his American Open and Masters titles.

The Canada Cup tournament was decided Sunday over the 7,903-yard Portmarnock links on the edge of the Irish Sea, and it was a new experience to the La Trobe, Pa., golfer.

"It's been entirely different playing this course," Palmer, 30, said.

"It's the first time I've played a course like this. I've learned a lot of new shots — shots I've never played before in my life."

"I'm taking them with me to St. Andrews for the British Open," Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., passed up the centenary of the British Open starting July 4, because of business commitments at home.

Snead had the individual title in his pocket at the start of the last day of the four-day tournament. Then he blew to a 75 and Belgian socialite Flory van Donck slipped through and collected the crown.

Van Donck finished with a 68-71-70-70—279 for the four rounds. Then he nervously waited for 90 minutes while Snead completed his round.

Snead needed a 72 to win. He went out in 36 and looked likely to do it. Then he blew to a 39 on the last nine and the title belonged to the Belgian.

The United States took the team title with a total of 565. England was second with 573, Australia third with 574, Ireland fourth with 575 and South Africa fifth with 578.

Among the hot-shot challengers in the 19th annual meet for the kids 19 years old and younger are Terry Tolerton of Alliance, a scratch player; Thomas Cassidy of Circleville, who finished a stroke behind Schuessler last year; Dick Ross of Springfield, whose brother Bob won the event twice; Bob Littler Jr., son of the professional at Athens Country Club, and Joe Campana of Warren, a one-handicap player.

The Marion course is not too long, but is dotted by trees and water. Professional Jack Stoddard said the teenagers will find the test a rugged one, but that he expects some sensational scoring.

Rest Ordered For Piersall

Cleveland Outfielder Off on New Tangent

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Piersall, Cleveland's high-strung outfielder, was bewildered by a doctor's order that he take a rest to soothe his jangled nerves.

"It's a complete shock to me," the Cleveland firebrand said Sunday night. "I don't really understand it."

Piersall, who spent part of 1952 in a suburban Boston hospital after a nervous breakdown, said he had no idea when he may return to the team.

"I'll just wait until I hear from Mr. Lane (General Manager Frank Lane)," he said.

Dr. Don Kelly, the Indians' team physician, advised the rest after Piersall was ejected from the second game of a doubleheader with the Yankees in Cleveland. Piersall left immediately and didn't know of the decision until he arrived in Boston to visit his family in suburban Newton.

"This was a big series," he said. "I always play hard against the Yankees."

He was thrown out of the game for disputing a call by Umpire Hank Soar after he unsuccessfully attempted to steal second base.

Jim has been at odds with umpires since early May. He has been arguing with opposing players and has a running verbal and sign battle going with the official scorer.

In one of his more widely publicized incidents, he threw a ball at the Chicago White Sox' fancy scoreboard.

Dr. Kelly said he recommended Piersall be given the rest after observing the outfielder for some time. "He's very tired and losing weight, almost exhausted," Dr. Kelly said.

McGuire's Capture Handicap Tourney

Helen and Tom McGuire teamed for a net 73 combined handicap score to lead 10 teams in yesterday's mates and dates tournament at Pickaway Country Club.

Tied for second place at net 75 were the teams of Marty Biscioti and Tom Cassidy, and Mary Carpenter-Abner Leach.

The Chicago White Sox had a 13-9 edge over the Yankees in 1959. Billy Pierce won four times and Bob Shaw and Early Wynn three times each.

Baltimore Regains Lead in American

Jim Gentile, a conditional purchase from Los Angeles last fall, is showing the Baltimore Orioles how to take charge of the American League.

Gentile's seven runs batted in Sunday helped the Orioles regain first place by a one-game margin over the New York Yankees. His three hits in five at bats sent him into first place in the league batting race at .347 with a 10-point edge over Boston's Pete Runnels. The slugging first baseman is right up there in RBI too with 49, good for second place.

The former Dodger farmhand wasn't the whole show in Baltimore's success story. Chuck Estrada, a young rookie right-hander, had a no-hitter going for seven innings and wound up with a two-hitter in the Orioles' 9-2 victory over Kansas City.

New York faltered after Whitey Ford had pitched the Yanks to a 6-2 first-game victory over Cleveland with a four-hitter.

Despite Roger Maris' two home runs the second 7-6 in 11 innings on an error by Maris. After the

TV Unit Nips Newark Twice

Neff and Reid Hurl Two-Hitters

Kenny Reid and Paul Neff combined for a pair of two-hitters Saturday night as Stonerock's TV swept a doubleheader from Newark Rockwell Axle in Eastern Ohio Fastball league play at Ted Lewis Park.

Stonerock's snared the first game in the sixth inning when Donny Neff powered a home run for the contest's only score, 1-0. Held scoreless for four innings in the second game, Stonerock's suddenly exploded for 12 runs as Reid shutout Newark, 12-0.

A fumbled popout lost the first tilt for Newark. Neff's foul down first base line popped out of the catcher's glove. On the next pitch he sent a screaming home run over the right fielder's outstretched hands.

Paul Neff fanned nine and walked one in the first. Newell was the loser, whiffing one and walking one. Harold Gulick and Paul Neff hit two-baggers in the initial tilt.

NEWARK, which arrived "in the nick of time" to prevent a forfeit, was handicapped by having only nine men. Newell was forced to hurl the second contest.

Newell was in constant trouble for the first four innings but managed to retire the side each time without a run scoring. Not so in the fifth, when Stonerock's shoved five runs across. The TVers played three runs in the sixth and four in the seventh.

Donny Neff came back with a second game home run along with Carl Gulick. Winning hurler Reid and Carl Gulick hit doubles. Reid struck out 11 and issued four free passes.

The tiring Newell walked 10 and whiffed three. Leading hitters for the two-game series were Harold Gulick, 4 for 7; Carl Gulick, 3 for 8; Don Neff, 2 for 6, both homers, and Reid, 2 for 2.

Merchants Split Pair

Circleville Merchants split a doubleheader Saturday night with Larry's Carry-Out. Mt. Vernon, in Eastern Ohio Fastball League action.

Mt. Vernon won the first encounter, 4-2 while the Merchants copped the second game, 10-5. Fenton Brown won the second tilt for Circleville. Bill Cook was the first game loser.

The Merchants outthit Mt. Vernon, 10-6, in the first contest, but couldn't bunch them where they counted. Circleville committed two errors to Larry's three.

Circleville's 12-hit attack was more than enough to back up Brown's second game six-hit pitching. Home runs for the two games were recorded by Bill Cook and Mike Brown. The latter went 3 for 8 during the series.

Next game on tap for the Merchants is Wednesday when they travel to Columbus for a tilt with Harley-Davidson in the Capital City "A" League.

Forrest Short Pads Driver Standing

Forrest Short padded his second place margin in the Scioto Downs leading drivers' standings Saturday with first, second and third place finishes.

In 35 starts, Short has 11 wins, four seconds and five place finishes to his credit. This is 20 showings in the money in 35 starts.

Leading driver is Robert Seabrook with 89 points, followed by Short with 77. Seabrook has started 62 times.

Forrest C. (Phog) Allen's college basketball teams won 771 games during his 46 years of coaching.

101 Golfers Enter Ohio Junior Test

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Schuessler of Sandusky puts his Ohio Junior Golf Championship on the line here Tuesday and Wednesday against exactly 100 challengers.

The 19-year-old won by a single stroke at Middletown last year in the two-day, 36-hole medal play event, and this one appears just as tight.

"I'll just wait until I hear from Mr. Lane (General Manager Frank Lane)," he said.

Dr. Don Kelly, the Indians' team physician, advised the rest after Piersall was ejected from the second game of a doubleheader with the Yankees in Cleveland. Piersall left immediately and didn't know of the decision until he arrived in Boston to visit his family in suburban Newton.

"This was a big series," he said. "I always play hard against the Yankees."

He was thrown out of the game for disputing a call by Umpire Hank Soar after he unsuccessfully attempted to steal second base.

Jim has been at odds with umpires since early May. He has been arguing with opposing players and has a running verbal and sign battle going with the official scorer.

In one of his more widely publicized incidents, he threw a ball at the Chicago White Sox' fancy scoreboard.

Dr. Kelly said he recommended Piersall be given the rest after observing the outfielder for some time. "He's very tired and losing weight, almost exhausted," Dr. Kelly said.

Tribe Keeps Close to Top In AL Race

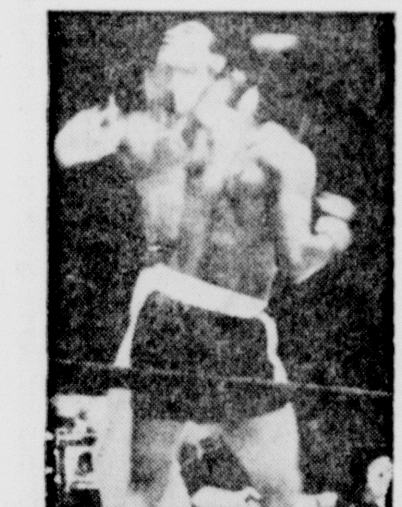

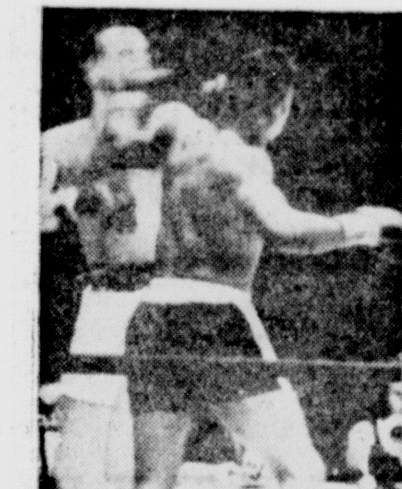

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, slumping badly a week ago, were very much in the American League pennant picture today as they came here for a Hall-of-Fame exhibition with the Chicago Cubs.

The Indians split a doubleheader with the New York Yankees Sunday before 57,261 sun-drenched fans, the largest crowd of the season in the junior circuit. The Yanks won the opener 6-2 on Whitey Ford's four-hitter, marred only by Tito Francona's homer following a single by Vic Power in the fourth inning.

The Tribe bounced back in the tense nightcap and dumped the Yanks out of first place with a 7-6 decision in 11 innings. Roger Maris the ex-Indian, homered twice to tie the game, then became the goat when he permitted Bob Hale's double to roll past him. Hank Foiles, on first with a single, raced home with the deciding run. Jim Perry (8-3) was the winner, turning in a brilliant 6-2-3 innings of relief for Jim (Mudcat) Grant, who blew a 4-0 first inning lead.

Thus, after losing six of eight to Baltimore and Boston at the beginning of a 15-game home stand, the Indians returned to winning ways and won five of seven from Washington and the Yanks. The series with New York produced a split of the four games, leaving the two clubs even at 5-5 for the season.

The lively Baltimore Orioles, next league opponent for Cleveland Tuesday night in the Maryland metropolis, now lead the AL by one game. The Indians are third, three games out but with a chance to gain in the three-game series.

HOW INGO WAS HOOKED— That Floyd Patterson left hook, a mighty blow, is caught by the TelePrompTer camera in this picture series and it's Swede dreams for Ingemar Johansson, who was the heavy champ until this blow landed. Each fighter is expected to get $1,000,000 apiece from the title bout.

Views on Television - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In television, even in the Westerns, the villain is increasingly being depicted as a pathetic, pitiable fellow in need of competent psychiatric assistance.

That's all right for serious drama, but it isn't fair to use him in a mystery, to most of us an entertaining puzzle. In this form you got to have a villain who is a bad guy.

NBC's hour-long Mystery Show Sunday night was no mystery at all. It was, instead, a story about a fear-ridden husband and wife — he afraid that something in his past would be found out and she afraid of her husband.

What suspense there was involved whether he would toss his wife down a 100-foot cliff and what was causing her migraine headaches. That may be an adequate plot of a month or so of soap opera episodes, but it's not the stuff for a 60-minute evening mystery show while Alfred Hitchcock and his bright suspense tales are opposite on another network.

This one called "Fear Is the Parent" was pretty dull. It featured Mona Freeman, Arthur Franz and the interior of a perfectly delightful country house.

CBS radio will repeat its 55-minute recapitulation of events leading to the fall of France Thursday night (9:05-10) after receiving requests from listeners who missed it when it was originally broadcast on June 13, the 20th anniversary of that sad day.

Doug McClure who this season plays Flip Flippin in this season's NBC period "Overland Trail" will turn up next season playing a modern private eye in CBS' "Checkmate" series.

Recommended tonight: Special musical salute to teen-agers ABC, 9:30-10:30 — with Pat Boone, Paul Anka, Edd Byrnes, Frankie Avalon, Bobby Darin and others; "After Hours," NBC, 10-11 repeat of a spoof of psychiatry with Sally Ann Howes and Christopher Plummer.

All times Eastern Daylight.

Texan Retains NCAA Golf Title

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—"I never gave up," said Dick Crawford after a tremendous come-from-behind effort won him the NCAA golf championship for the second year in a row.

Crawford, 21, a University of Houston junior, admitted he wasn't confident of winning until the 35th hole of his final match Saturday with Steve Smith of Stanford.

After the morning 18 holes over the 7,035-yard, par 36-35 — 71 Broadmoor course, Crawford was 6-down to Smith, who had conquered National Amateur champ Jack Nicklaus in the third round. Smith's lead was chopped to 3-up after 27 holes, and Crawford stroked four birdies on the closing nine holes to win by a 2-up score.

The Chicago White Sox have only one rookie, outfielder Joe Hicks.

Columbus Man Cheats Death 3 Times with Heart Machine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Davidson and a new machine cheated death three times in three days.

When Davidson's heart stopped, in three successive heart attacks, the machine took over. "He would have been dead at least one of those times," his physician said.

The machine, still on duty beside Davidson's St. Anthony Hospital bed, does several remarkable things.

When the patient is "hooked up" (as Davidson describes it) three small electrodes are tapped to his chest attached to thin needles slipped beneath his skin.

An electrocardiograph, like a tiny TV screen, gives a visual picture of the patient's heartbeat. A steady "beep" signal informs the patient and attending nurses and doctors that all is well, and a flickering light flashes on and off.

"When my heart stops or slows below an established rate set on the machine the light goes out and an alarm rings," Davidson said. If the patient is conscious, he can switch on the controls himself to send a charge of electricity into his heart and start its beating again.

Davidson, 46, of Columbus, a printing pressman, knows that if he hadn't been in the hospital when he had the three heart attacks last weekend, and if the hospital hadn't had the new cardiac resuscitator at hand, he wouldn't be alive today.

The $1,300 machine is generally used for patients who suffer cardiac failure during surgery.

Davidson said about the machine: "Feels just like sticking your finger in an electric light socket. The first time they used it on me, they had the voltage a little high. I almost jumped out of the bed."

Davidson will be released soon.

but the doctors are recommending that he protect himself against future attacks by purchasing a portable version of the machine.

"The small ones, run by transistors, are just about the size of three cigarette packages," one of the doctors explained.

Middletown Pilot Cops Cross-Country Trophy

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Middletown pilot, Bob McNutt, has won the 11th annual cross-country test of the Greater Cincinnati Airmen Club. He topped 36 flying competitors Sunday, covering the 256 miles in his plane from Cincinnati to Richmond, Ind., to Louisville, Ky., and return in 2 hours, 27 minutes, on 25 gallons of fuel. Object of the race was covering the distance in the least time on the least fuel.

George M. Cohan always insisted that his early "Venus, My Shining Love," was the best song he ever wrote. He got only $25 for it.

Son of Police Chief Is Held in Shooting

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Tommy Greathouse, 23, whose father is W. A. Greathouse, police chief in Russell, Ky., was charged Sunday with shooting with intent to kill his wife, Shirley, 19. She was reported in critical condition after being shot six times with a revolver outside an Ironton tavern Saturday night. Her husband told police he became angry when he saw her talking with some men at the tavern.

Columbus Man Cheats Death 3 Times with Heart Machine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Davidson and a new machine cheated death three times in three days.

When Davidson's heart stopped, in three successive heart attacks, the machine took over. "He would have been dead at least one of those times," his physician said.

The machine, still on duty beside Davidson's St. Anthony Hospital bed, does several remarkable things.

When the patient is "hooked up" (as Davidson describes it) three small electrodes are taped to his chest attached to thin needles slipped beneath his skin.

An electrocardioscope, like a tiny TV screen, gives a visual picture of the patient's heartbeat. A steady "beep" signal informs the patient and attending nurses and doctors that all is well, and a flickering light flashes on and off.

"When my heart stops or slows below an established rate set on the machine the light goes out and an alarm rings," Davidson said. If the patient is conscious, he can switch on the controls himself to send a charge of electricity into his heart and start its beating again.

Davidson, 46, of Columbus, a printing pressman, knows that if he hadn't been in the hospital when he had the three heart attacks last weekend, and if the hospital hadn't had the new cardiac resuscitator at hand, he wouldn't be alive today.

The $1,300 machine is generally used for patients who suffer cardiac failure during surgery.

Davidson said about the machine: "Feels just like sticking your finger in an electric light socket. The first time they used it on me, they had the voltage a little high. I almost jumped out of the bed."

Davidson will be released soon,

but the doctors are recommending that he protect himself against future attacks by purchasing a portable version of the machine.

"The small ones, run by transistors, are just about the size of three cigarette packages," one of the doctors explained.
